

I am in opposition to any federal laws which would lessen state protections regarding telephone privacy. Since Indiana has implemented a "No Call List" for telemarketers I have seen a dramatic decrease in the number of telemarketers calling me during the day, which as a night shift worker, is a blessing. Prior to the Telephone Privacy Act, I would receive at least one all a day, and now I receive none.